

K.C.E. Society
Moolji Jaitha College, Jalgaon

JalaSRI

Watershed Surveillance and Research Institute

Smart Sensors Based Water Filtration Systems for Rural Areas in Jalgaon District, Maharashtra State, India

By

Devyani Bendale¹, Rajan Zambre², Shirish Kardile³, and Ganapati Patil⁴

¹Watershed surveillance and Research Institute-JalaSRI, Moolji Jaitha College, Jalgaon,
India 425002

²Erallo Technologies, inc., 20 Taylor Street, Littleton, MA 01

³5/87, "Shubhankaroti" Near Nashik Road College, Nashik Road 422 101 , Maharashtra,
India 422 101

⁴Centre for Statistical Ecology and Environmental Statistics, Department of Statistics,
Pennsylvania State University, University Park, PA, 16802

This case study involves assessment of water quality in rural areas of Jalgaon District, designing and installation of water filtration plant in the villages having non potable drinking water resources, designing and installation of sensors in filtration plants for in situ monitoring of water quality parameters which makes the water non potable

[Draft]

Technical Report Number 2008-1010
October 2008

Nandakumar Bendale
President
K C E Society,
Jalgaon

Anil Rao
Administrator
Principal, M. J. College,
Jalgaon

Ganapati Patil
Mentor and Advisor Distinguished Professor of Mathematical and Environmental Statistics, Penn State University, USA

Gauri Rane
Coordinator
JalaSRI, Jalgaon

Watershed Surveillance and Research Institute-JalaSRI
Moolji Jaitha College, Campus, Jilha Peth, Jalgaon 425 002 (INDIA)
Ph: 91 257-2237363, 2234281
FAX: 91 257-2237363
e-mail:mjc.jalasri@gmail.com
Web:http://www.jalasri.kces.in